GREGORY'S & JAQUITH'S TRUSS.

A NEWLY invented Truss is now presented to the public combining in a more convenient form, the advantage of all previous ones. It brings with it the recommendation of very many distinguished surgeons and physicians who have examined it. For the ease with which it is worn facility of graduating the pressure upon the hernia, and security in retaining it in its place; it is confidently recommended to all interested in such things as superior to all other trusses. By employing various forms of the hard or elastic rupture pad, as prospect of radical cure, or immunity from recurrence only may indicate the instrument becomes adapted to all forms of hernia. All persons requiring Trusses are respectfully invited to call, and examine these at MANN & SNOW'S Apothecary Store, No 44 Main street, Bangor.

Among the numerous certificates in possession of the agents and proprietors, only the following is offered there:

BANGOR, July 8, 1837.

This may certify that I procured of Mr. J. S. Gregory, one of his Trusses after making trial of it, with the privilege of returning it if it did not suit. I laid aside a common (Marsh's) Truss and find this is the easiest and most effectual to retain the Hernia I have ever tried. From the trial I have made of this truss, I would recommend it to all afflicted with a rupture. (Signed) EDWARD HOYT.

Reference to the following physicians is kindly permitted — Dr Rich; Dr Dickinson; Dr Dean; Dr Bartlett; Dr McRoer; Dr Cushing; Dr Proctor.

ELECTIONS

OHIO The returns come in better still from Ohio—We have accounts of the election of nine Senators and thirty eight members of the House of Assembly. Of these Senators, last year, four were Whigs, and five were Tories and of the members of the House, fourteen were Whigs and twenty one Tories Now, of the Senators Seven are Whigs, and Two are Tories—and of the members of the Assembly TWENTY THREE are Whigs, and Fifteen are Tories!! Last year the Tories had a majority in each branch of the Legislature This year, the WHIGS WILL HAVE TWO THIRDS OF BOTH BRANCHES!!!

PENNSYLVANIA Our returns from Pennsylvania are not yet perfect The Senatorial returns are all in, and shew the complete success of the Whigs Out of thirty three members, of which the Senate consists, the Whigs have elected EIGHTEEN. It is probable that in the House there will still be a small Tory majority But with a Whig Governor and a Whig Senate the half dozen majority in the House will be powerless—As far as heard the aggregate vote stands thus

For the Whigs	40 936
" " Tories	40 030
Whig majority	856

Last year in the same counties the vote stood thus—

For the Tories	42 914
" " Whigs	39 291
Tory majority	3 623
Whig majority this year	856
WHIG NET GAIN	4 479

Which is more than the majority by which Van Buren received the electoral vote of Pennsylvania, without which he could not have been President.

FROM WASHINGTON A Public Address to the Whigs of the United States will be published at Washington, during the present, or early in the ensuing week The Address has been prepared by a committee chosen by the Whig members of Congress Its object is understood to be to explain the grounds of opposition to the prominent measures of the administration, and the designs of the administration in recommending the New and Untried Expedient which has been so signally defeated

WHIG JUBILEE IN NEW JERSEY A great Anti Van Buren Jubilee took place at Trenton last week in honor of the recent glorious political victory in New Jersey A general invitation was sent to the Anti Van Buren voters of the city and county of Philadelphia The Hon Samuel Southard, the Hon. William Halsted, and a number of other distinguished orators were present.

The Whigs of Portland rang their bells last year in honor of the reported Whig victory in Pennsylvania When the victory proved to be no victory, the Tories laughed at the Whigs for leaping before they looked But now the laugh is changed to the other side, for the Whigs say they rang the bells upon a year's credit

E W Davies, of the New York Times, in a note to the editors of Hudson's Express, says, "In your notice of great men a few days since, you spoke of me, as being a Briton" We did not happen to see the notice of great men in the Express, but upon reading this, from the extraordinary connection between Davies and the subject of the notice, we were reminded of an anecdote that is told of Mr Chitty, the celebrated author of English Law Books

It is well known that Mr Chitty consigns the task of making the Index to his works to one or more of the students in his office "I had occasion," said a friend of Mr Chitty, "to look into your new work this morning at the subject of 'Bail' Upon finding the title I was thus referred 'see Mr Justice Best, page 270' Upon finding Mr Justice Best, page 270, I was thus referred 'see great mind, page 340,' and upon finding 'great mind, page 340,' I came at last to the end of my search, and read thus 'The Bail being guilty of a contempt of Court, Mr Justice Best, had a great mind to commit him'"

CASE OF POISONING

We understand that an examination of Mr Gridley T Parkman, of St Albans, took place on Wednesday and was continued up to Saturday last, on a charge of having caused the death of his wife, by administering arsenic and other deadly poisons admixed The examination was before Josiah Bacon, Esq Justice of the Peace, at St Albans The Attorney for the State, Enoch E Brown, Esq. Council for the prisoner, Messrs. G G Cushman and L J [illegible] It was alleged that the prisoner purchased at a drug store a quantity of arsenic and oil of spike, as he then said, for some complaint of his horse On the night after obtaining the articles, the family who lived in the same house with Parkman, heard many groans of distress in the other part of the house, and supposed to be from Mrs Parkman They were not called in, although the family consisted only of Mr P and his wife. On the next day at noon the woman died A great excitement was raised, and the prisoner was arrested. It was proved that he had not owned a horse for several [illegible] alleged that he had [illegible] articles on his way [illegible], but several physicians were called, who, on opening the body, discovered arsenic therein, which evidently caused her death. The examination was probably closed on Monday evening, and resulted in [illegible] over [illegible]

[Correspondence of the N. Y. Commercial]

WASHINGTON, Oct 16, 1837

Congress adjourned to day at 10 o clock, until the first Monday in December next

The House met this morning at 8 o clock The Senate at Half past 8 There was a quorum in the House, though very few more were present The Senate had not a quorum, but no notice was taken of the fact

The House resumed the consideration of the bill for adjusting the accounts with the deposite banks, and the question being on concurring with the Senate in their amendment, declaring that the default referred to in the bill shall be understood to be a failure of any of the deposite banks to pay the drafts of the treasury, and that such banks be charged six per cent per an interest on such drafts for the time of default

Mr Adams addressed the House in opposition to the amendment, and to the bill in a speech of extraordinary animation and energy He declared that the bill would put in the power of the Secretary to select between the banks at his pleasure, while both might be equally guilty of default

He charged Mr Cambreleng with the most culpable obstinacy in forcing this bill to a passage on Saturday night, so precipitately, and declared that if it should now be passed with this obvious and flagrant objection on its face, the present Congress would stand disgraced before the nation Mr Adams then reminded the House of the BARGAIN which had been struck with certain members of the south and south-west, during the debate on the Postponement Bill, and to which the attention of the House was directed at the time, by Col Dawson, of Ga and Gen Mason of Ohio, both of whom proclaimed that a BARGAIN had been made, in order to induce the members from the south and south-west, to vote for the postponement bill

Mr Adams "I declare before the House and the country that the Postponement Bill was carried by this bargain"

Several members from the South and South west started from their seats, under great excitement to address the chair

Mr Garland, of Louisiana, demanded if he was referred to by Mr Adams as a party to the bargain

Mr Adams said his remark was general he referred to no member in particular

Mr Martin, of Ala, disclaimed for himself having any part in any bargain or arrangement

Loud cries of Question, resounded through the hall, Cambreleng's voice being loudest

Mr Adams—'I tell the member from N Y, that his yells of 'question' 'question' pass by me as the idle wind I tell gentlemen the question shall nor be taken yet I am entitled to the floor, and I WILL SPEAK'

Mr A then proceeded to contend that the amendment of the Senate was the consummation of the bargain that had been entered into but his remarks became so keen that,

Mr. Cambreleng rose and called him to order (Cries of 'question,' and 'go on')

Mr A 'I am referring to a disgraceful scene in which the member of N Y acted a prominent part and I tell him I will not be put down by his cries of 'order!' I will proclaim the character of that scene to the house and country'

Mr Cambreleng (in great wrath,) 'Has the gentleman from Mass a right to speak of a bill that has been disposed of?'

The speaker told Mr A that he must confine himself to the subject under debate

Mr A 'Well sir, since I am not allowed to refer to what has been done in this hall, I will suppose a case which happened in a certain legislative body in the moon, if you choose'

(Loud laughter)

Mr A then stated in this hypothetical form, as an imaginary case, the very proceedings which had taken place on the bill He spoke of the strong objections made by him and others to the bill on Saturday morning and how, instead of obtaining any answer to them from Mr Cambreleng, the bill was pushed aside and then another, and yet another taken up

The bill (he said) was then suddenly taken up again, and as soon as the amendment of Mr Johnson of Louisiana for extending the periods of the payment of the balances to July, 1838 and January, and July, 1839 was carried, Cambreleng moved the previous question, and the bill was passed

Mr A said that all the business of this session had been done in the same way, a session which, he said, was called to perfect a system to embarrass the finances of this nation by reversing all that had been settled

He thanked God that one the most important of the whole series of measures tending to ruin the prosperity of the people and bring them to servitude had been rejected but yet great mischief would flow from the other measures which had passed

He declared that whenever any objection to this system which came from the Treasury Department, except the paltry amendments of Mr Cambreleng himself whenever any objections were started, Cambreleng had only to get up and call on his friends to "TOE THE MARK"

'That,' said he, 'is the only answer which the Executive's organ—the Chancellor of the exchequer the minister to carry into effect the edicts of the Treasury Department has to make to the objections which have been urged to these atrocious measures

Mr Adams proceeded in the same strain for some time, when after several interruptions from Mr Cambreleng he said, that from tenderness to that individual, he would take his seat

Mr Cambreleng then rose amidst loud cries of 'Question' and said the member of Mass had referred to an imaginary case in the legislative assembly in the moon, he had only to remark that certain members would be very fit representatives in such an assembly "Yes," cried a member from the West, "there is your*self* for instance" Shouts of laughter followed this sally

Mr Cambreleng had no other resort but to move the previous question which was seconded, and the amendment of the Senate was concurred in Ayes, 105 nays, 45

The bill was then enrolled, signed by the Speaker of the House, and the President pro tem of the Senate; and the President of U S

The Senate had nothing to do but go through the customary formalities. The two Houses appointed a joint committee, consisting of Messrs Norvell of Mich, and Clay of Ala senators, and Messrs Thomas of Md., Pope of Ky, and Taylor of N Y. representatives, to wait on the President, and announce, that unless he had some farther communication to make, the two Houses, having finished their legislative business were ready to adjourn.

The President, who was in the chamber appropriated to his use, in the capitol, received the committee with his usual courtesy, and informed them that he had no other communication to make, but expressed a fervent wish that the members of both Houses might all return in safety and happiness to their respective homes

The two Houses then interchanged messages announcing their [illegible] to adjourn, and the Speaker [illegible] Representatives and the President of the Senate immediately after announced [illegible] of the two bodies to [illegible]

The extra train of cars left the city at half past 12 o'clock to-day, and the greater number of the members who had remained till to-day, departed in them

The Boston Atlas says that the recent proclamation of Mr Van Buren, calling Congress together is word for word the same as that issued by Mr Jefferson in 1806 If this be so, it is a most remarkable coincidence

The particulars of the wreck of the Steam Packet "Home," announced in our paper of Saturday

The "Home," made rapid progress after she left New York, and had proceeded as far as to the southard of Cape Hatteras, when the wind, which had been blowing very freshly all Monday morning, 9th inst increased to a gale about two o clock, P M, and caused the boat to labor very much It was soon very generally manifest that her frame was not strong enough to withstand the violence of the sea and we learn that she raised in the bow and stern at least three feet from her proper line. It is supposed that she leaked freely, for she soon settled so deep in the water as to render her wheels entirely useless and her sails were then raised to run her on shore

About 7 or 8 o clock P M the water had quenched the fire under the boilers, and she continued nearing the land by means of her sails, until half past ten o'clock, when she struck the shore near Ocracoke, and immediately went to pieces The passengers were now in the greatest confusion and alarm—some leaped overboard and were drowned in attempting to swim to land, while others possessed themselves of pieces of timber and floated ashore nearly exhausted with cold and fatigue One of the passengers above mentioned remained quietly on the forecastle, and floated ashore on it after the boat went to pieces Mrs Schroeder, one of the two ladies who were saved, lashed herself to one of the timbers and reached the shore in safety Mrs Lacoste, although a very feeble old lady aged about 70 years, was safely dragged out of the surf, she is supposed to have been buoyed up by a settee One of the passengers had on a life preserver, and got safely to land by its aid The boat was entirely broken into fragments, and the few trunks which were washed on the beach next day were more or less injured Messrs Rowland and Holmes, the passengers who communicated the intelligence, remained at Ocracoke two days before they could get a conveyance to Norfolk They state that about twenty bodies had been washed ashore and were buried before they left the beach among them the bodies of two or three of the ladies The list furnished above, is believed to contain the names of all who were preserved from this most distressing disaster

Among the list of passengers, we are sorry to notice the names of Professor Nott and lady of Columbia, S C

Two of the passengers were saved by means of India rubber life preservers They state that if there had been 100 of these on board but very few lives would have been lost

The Home had on board ninety passengers, of whom SEVENTY PERISHED and of her crew of forty five, TWENTY FIVE were lost making a total loss of NINETY FIVE LIVES

GREAT GALE AT NEW ORLEANS GAS PUT OUT DEAD UNBURIED By our slips to the 8th, we have the following disastrous additions The gale raised the waters of the Lake higher than since March 1823 inundated the swamp with great rapidity so that at 8 P M there was three feet depth of water on the Gas House Square, covering the valves and thus leaving the city in total darkness, for which Mr Caldwell the contractor, made, according to the papers of the 8th, the amende honorable, by a public apology The water was still rising on the 8th, and persons residing as high up as Rampart street were obliged to go home in boats The burial ground was covered so deep that the dead had to be left unburied, and they are piled up as in Egypt of old, till the waters subside! The whole number of deaths, however, on October 8th, were but eighteen The gale blew down several chimnies and unroofed a number of houses, and dismasted and unmoored several ships at the wharves That fine new edifice, the "City Exchange," was much injured Several of the brick columns and part of the marble front of the Citizens' Bank, Toulouse street, were blown down. All the boats at the piers on Lake Ponchartrain were driven into the woods, except the South Alabama

An American Lady Lavallette! The abused, betrayed, but still devoted wife of Clark, who is under sentence to the State Prison, went to the Jail this forenoon to take leave of her convict husband, who was to start for Sing Sing this afternoon She was admitted to his cell and after an hour's interview retired, apparently overwhelmed with grief With her face buried in her handkerchief to "hide the tears she did not shed, she passed out unquestioned, and the key was turned upon the culprit Some half hour afterwards, upon a closer examination, the turnkey found that Clark, in the wardrobe of his wife, had fled, leaving her in the cell as his hostage! The whole posse of sheriff and constables were instantly mustered, and are in full cry after the fugitive! [Albany Eve. Journal

LOCO FOCOISM AND FANNY WRIGHT

The Loco Focos have summoned their old ally to their aid, Miss Fanny Wright, we beg pardon, Madam Darusmont, who is now, if not stumping it, nor barbecuing it, as in the South and West, canvassing, as we call it in the North, at six cents per head The appearance of this Loco Foco petticoat Benton is generally indicative of a coming election—and now, that the Loco Focos have got possession of Tammany, and even the administration of the Government is in their reign, she now opens her lectures here flushed with new hope of a realization of her ideal equality of men, women, children, colors, races, and creeds, with her eye already upon that Infidel Utopia that she has dreamed of and dwelt in for years Already she glories, in her lectures, of the strength she has gained and Benton himself, in the U S Senate, is not more pert in the denunciation of all things venerable and standing, than this she-Benton now opening the election campaign on behalf of the "Government" and its office holders in the city of New York. "Biddle and the Bank, "Aristocracy and Equal Rights," "the American People," their "humble, degraded, miserable condition," "trampled upon by the monster monopolies,"—she [illegible] as greatly from the tongue as he, and the Globe is her Bible, (she knows no Christian Bible,) and Benton is her God, (she knows no Christian God)

All this is in suit! That Fanny Wright should appear now in New York, in behalf of the [illegible], is no marvel. She is [illegible] tions ministers of the gospel of all creeds parental authority over children the husband wedding but one wife Judges expounding the Law, and Law overawing the People These are all monopolies with her, and it is not marvellous at all, that the catch word should be applied to Banks, Corporations and such things Our houses are monopolies, our wives and children are monopolies, our tables, with our daily food, are monopolies from the beggars of the streets, our gaols are monopolies of the criminals our hats, shoes and coats, are monopolies of the wearers, even, as Fanny would say, and there is no equality in suffering one man to monopolize the beauty the comfort, the necessaries, the God of nature, (Fanny knows no other) has given to all mankind

We are well aware, that such monstrous and frightful principles as these do not meet the approbation of all, even the Loco Focos, but they do meet the approbation of many of their leaders Fanny Wright is now in fact a leader of the Loco Foco party The oration she made last Sunday night would have made the walls of Tammany ring with Loco Foco applause Aye, her principles of common stock were carried out when the mob, under the fumes of Loco Foco eloquence, was led from the Park, and threw Hart's flour into the street Hart was "monopolizing flour and "equality was distributing it' This was Loco Focoism not in theory, but in practice Fanny Wright knows her allies and she comes to New York now to lead by the strings of her petticoat the party that but the other day mobbed out of Tammany what was hitherto pronounced most respectable and patriotic in it in order, by violence, to instal another party in it Even now Fanny would be cheered on the rostrum of Tammany Ming is! Ming is monarch there! and Fanny Wright is but a part of the firm of Slam, Bang Ming & Co

*The farmers and mechanics of the great interior of this State, are invited to look at these things in New York Loco Focoism gets its name, and won its triumph over the Administration here Infidelity, a community of property, and of women, are but muffled up for the present Muffled up? No not even muffled up!—for the she orator here is heralding their way The battle of principle we are waging, is the old one between society, order, morals and religion, and infidelity anarchy, the riot, butchery and blood, of the French Revolution One party wishes to bear down every thing, the other is satisfied with the institutions the liberty and glory their fathers have left them.

MORISON'S PILLS!!!
F. & I. S. WHITMAN, Agents, Bangor

THE friends of Hygeianism and the public generally are again cautioned against the unprincipled attempts of apothecaries and quack doctors, to destroy all confidence in these highly valuable and almost indispensable family medicines, by the cry of imposition ' exorbitant prices ' falsehood ' and more than all, by the astonishing benevolence of the craft in imparting to the world their wonderful discovery of the composition of them, that a three dollar packet costs but one shilling that any person can make them, etc. Counterfeiters also, beware of the law. The British College of Health have recently recovered damages of the makers and venders of a spurious dangerous article, in the courts of Massachusetts and New York , and their exclusive right and property in the sale, is firmly established and confirmed in this country

Two hundred thousand dollars worth of these simple and effective medicines are sold annually in the United States, and injury from them is unheard of One cause of the high price they bear, is a heavy export duty paid in England ; yet they are incomparably cheaper than any patent medicines ever offered saving as they do, expensive and protracted fits of sickness

The genuine article cannot be bought of apothecaries travellers or pedlars they being denied the sale throughout the world The only place in this section where they can be had is at the store of F & I S WHITMAN, Bangor, (whose signature is labeled on every packet they sell) where may be seen printed reports of recent trials, certificates of cures etc Subscriptions received to the Family Adviser and Hygeian Record a paper published at New York at $1 per annum nov 19
